

Response to MTU Graduate School review of dissertation regarding copyright requirements (following Section 5.3.3 of the MTU dissertation submission guide)

- Figure 5.2 (page 128) was created and made available by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, and is therefore in public domain and no permission is necessary to reproduce. It is cited accordingly.
- Appendix 1 is a publicly-available document from the government of the Keweenaw Bay Indian Community, and is also considered public domain. I added a citation to satisfy requirements.
- Documents in Appendices 2b, 2c, 3a, 3b, 5a, and 5b were all created by me. Images and logos were either made by me, cited appropriately, or are in public domain (or some combination thereof). There should be no need for permission to reproduce.
- Appendix 5c is available on the website for the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and is therefore also public domain. I enhanced the citation to explain.

In conclusion, none of the documents or images noted in the initial review of my dissertation require permission to reproduce, and should be covered by the exceptions listed in Section 5.3.1 of the guide.

Please let me know if I can be of further assistance.

Kindest regards,
